PREFACE

Seven has always been a mystic number, lucky or unlucky as suited the purposes of the clairvoyant. So this, the seventh catalogue of Kappa Alpha Theta, has a mystic character too, for no clairvoyance—and it is needed badly in the puzzles raised by a catalogue—could unravel the mystery of the present whereabouts of some Thetas; that is the unlucky element, while the careful, ingenious, and cheerful work of many associate editors represents the greatly predominating lucky element.

The greatest luck of all will be for this catalogue to so arouse your interest, or your wrath, that you will correct its errors and omissions by notices to the editor.

We know the catalogue is full of mistakes, for people will move frequently, and women, furthermore, lose their postoffice identity by acquiring new names. Our instinct has been to delay publication and search further for the missing addresses, but as each day some one else moves or marries, it seemed unwise to obey that impulse, as it led only to a continual tomorrow. And so the book goes forth with the editorial vision so filled with its shortcomings as to quite crush us were it not for the relief recoil at the end of this truly tremendous task.

We have acquired (we modestly believe) considerable detective power from these weeks of close attention to names, cities, and streets, and a wealth of ideas about membership records which we confidently hope will work such a revolution in our system of records as to make the publication of another catalogue approach the "simple mechanical task" some of our correspondents deem all catalogue compilation to be. We have also acquired much new knowledge of human nature: we now know that historians are born historians and that they can not be made to order by election to office: we now know that promptness to many chapters means any time within 60 days of the date set: we now know that some of our chapters have unity and business methods of high type, while others—: best of all we now know at least fifteen ideal catalogue editors for the fraternity.

Numerous amusing slips have brightened the long days' work. One enthusiastic archivist had married three members to one favored (?) "chapter brother," while another had impartially married three sisters off, but each to a sister's husband, while to bestow degrees on members at dates preceding matriculation date seems a frequent if unique procedure. One chapter frankly admitted it had two members named Clarke, one of whom spelled her name with the final e, the other without it, but which was which it did not remember; while another owned to two members living in Alberta, Canada, and was surprised to be asked for a more complete address, "for mail would surely reach them in that small place." Thus Canada takes the place once given to the far west, as the "land of no distances." One chapter actually reported among its members with addresses unknown, one of our present District presidents; but then one of our contemporaries in this sort of work reports that his own chapter sent him in the chapter's list of members with his own address marked "unknown"—so there are others.

We hope it is unnecessary to explain in detail the plan of this catalogue. The Editor always has found such a penchant for irritation in the signs, abbreviations, and cross references that send you hither and thither in many catalogues, that we have endeavored to keep to plain English and to make every entry intelligent and clear in itself, even at the monetary and labor expense of duplicating data. The one sign used is the * designating charter members; the few abbreviations are (we hope) readable without a reference table; and the only cross references are from maiden names to married ones, which we believe are justified by the preference of every one to be known by her name "as it is now." Many interesting things about our members have had to be omitted because this is primarily an address book. We hope the time may come when Kappa Alpha Theta can have a biographical and historical catalogue to supplement its address book. One chapter, the third established, makes its first catalogue appearance in this issue, through the cooperation of one of our Founders, Mrs Shaw. A number of members' names omitted by chapter oversight in earlier editions, have been returned to the rolls. These are the only additions, save the normal ones of new initiates, and new chapters.

When no address follows a name, it isn't a slip, but a plain acknowledgment that the address is unknown. The custom of a (?) after addresses not positively known to be correct has been ignored for two reasons, because for many chapters it was quite impossible to distinguish the positively correct from the doubtful addresses, and because the question mark seemed to give no really valuable information as an address correct this morning may be wrong this afternoon, and vice versa. When street addresses for city members are missing, it is because chapters did not know the street address or else did not deem it important enough to include. We have tried to give always a permanent address. We realize that temporary addresses might be of value in promoting acquaintanceship, but as our workers are teaching or pursuing other vocations one year here, the next year there, temporary addresses are liable to be incorrect before next September at the latest.

To the Associate editors, to the secretaries of some of the alumnae chapters, to the many Thetas who sent us voluntarily their own addresses and especially to those who sent in addition addresses of the "rest of the Thetas in town," "their own college generation," "girls initiated when I was," "all Thetas I now correspond with"—to all of these go out grateful thanks for their thoughtful aid. That their spirit of service may be so infectious as to be caught by every member of the fraternity before another catalogue is planned will be the greatest reward for their services and mine.

L. PEARLE GREEN.

NOTICE

This issue appears disgracefully late. We do not believe in the justification of excuses. It is the office's aim to do its best at all times and to take all responsibility for short-comings. However, we feel that this time we owe it to the catalogue's compilers and publishers to state why you get a May Journal late in August.

The last catalogue copy, the cards of the Alphabetical section, were entrusted to Adams Express Company on May 31. Though the box that contained these precious cards was of firm wood and larger than a steamer trunk, it vanished after being put on a train out of Ithaca, New York. For six weeks the Express Company "traced" it, while we waited most impatiently. "Lost for good" being the final verdict, the work of compiling this essential index began anew. The task included—writing 12,000 address cards, proof-reading them, arranging them alphabetically, preparing 350 pages of typed copy, proof-reading that, before either publisher or editor could again take up the work at the stage it had reached on May 31.

Now, to answer once for all the question every one puts when they hear this story. "But the express company was responsible, they paid the value of the box, didn't they?" Yes, they paid, but not money even could decrease by one card the work necessary to duplicate a section of the catalogue.

The catalogue represents the fraternity's membership as it stood May 31, 1916, for in spite of the catalogue's late appearance, it was impractical to make later revisions, as chapter and geographic sections had reached page proof by that date.
